Colvin Fall Lecture Talks Amazon, the Death of the Mall and the Future of Retail

Lecturer Tom Dwyer, Dean Donald W. Linebaugh and Lecturer Nick Egelanian

The mall is dead, but Amazon didn't kill it. SiteWorks President Nick Egelanian, a leading expert on retail and the shopping center industry, addressed the demise of the American mall, the age of Amazon and the fate of retail in a special fall lecture on Wednesday, October 9th, to a packed auditorium at the School of Architecture, Planning and Preservation.

Egelanian's lecture on the future of retail addressed the myths and misconceptions of traditional retail, how retail....

MRED Student Profile

Rahul Chawla

Rahul Chawla is a full-time student in the MRED program. He expects to graduate in December 2019. He is originally from New Delhi, India. Rahul graduated from Delhi University in 1998, where he majored in Business Management. He also holds a Juris Doctor from Delhi University. Rahul has an abundance of industry experience and has worked at leading banking, financial services and real estate lending corporations, including HDFC and Colliers. In his last role, he served as Director of Transactions at CBRE India.

Rahul says, "Deal making and the ability to convert a barren land to a developed product while creating value always intrigued me. My area of expertise was largely on the business/finance side of commercial real estate pertaining to leasing, acquisitions and dispositions. The MRED program helped me understand and have a holistic understanding of the real estate development process."

Student & Alumni Happy Hour

On September 24th, MRED alumni, students, faculty, staff and friends came together at The Hotel in College Park for happy hour and networking. A great time was had by all. Thank you to everyone who came out. Hope to see you at the next one! Details to be announced.
